Note: This fact sheet does not include the program specific curriculum. To access the curriculum from the program's webpage, click one of the links below the section titled "Degrees Offered."

The journalism minor utilizes professional journalists as faculty to insure that students are receiving cutting-edge training. In addition to traditional coursework, students pursuing the journalism minor work on The Vantage, Newman University's student newspaper. If you are interested in journalism as a career, your work for the The Vantage can open doors to internships at newspapers and broadcast stations and can help you build the experience you'll need to become a professional journalist.

EXPERT, ACCESSIBLE FACULTY

The Journalism program consists of a group of carefully selected scholarly and professional practitioners who creatively introduce students to emerging theory and current best practices.

Newman Graduates regularly cite close collaboration with talented, dedicated faculty as one of their most meaningful experiences at Newman.

Newman faculty members are more than just leaders in their field. They take an active and personal role in students' studies and progress, forming strong relationships with students through coursework, special projects and informal out of class discussions.

ACCREDITATION

Newman University is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, www.ncahigherlearningcommission.org.

FINANCIAL AID

With many scholarships, grants, work-study and company tuition assistance programs available, the cost of a degree from Newman University is comparable to that of state universities.
